

Weekly Report 22 June 2026

SET Index hit the top at 1609 level and settled lower at 1572 closing on Friday. This week, we forecast the SET market will continue to make correction and trade lower within 1540 – 1590 region. The USD/THB exchange rate climbed higher and settled at 32.80 level on Friday. This week, we foresee the exchange rate will enter into sideways and trade in narrow range within 32.60 – 32.90 region.

Gold spot prices dipped last week amid sideways trend and closed at USD4160 /oz on Friday. This week, we project the market will move sideways and create a support region. Range is expected to trade within USD4050 – USD4350 /oz region. Bargain-hunting actions are likely to emerge after mid-week.

Crude WTI spot prices waned last week as peace agreement is reached between U.S. and Iran leaders. Market settled at USD77.70 /barrel on Friday. This week, we target the market to make some short-coverings and trade within USD74.00 – USD80.00 /barrel. Despite the Strait of Hormuz is opened again, traders are adopting a cautious watch on the Middle East situation as the peace deal is supposed to be signed within 60 days.

Silver spot prices traded in sideways trend and closed at USD64.92 /oz on Friday. This week, the market will trail the other precious metals and likely to form a support base within USD63.00 – USD68.00 /oz region. Breaking beyond this aforementioned range in either direction is unexpected but might lead to a new extension.

Disclaimer: This report is written for general information only. No liability by the writers, publisher or any third party involved in the distribution of this work.

DAR Wong is a professional in the global financial & investment industry with more than 30 years of experiences in Singapore. He can be reached at dar@alaa.sg