Weekly Report 6 July 2026

SET Index charted on new recent high 1611 on Friday after following a new record high closing in U.S. Dow market. This week, we reckon it will be a challenging week since the market is subject to dual possibility within 1580 – 1640 range. The USD/THB exchange rate traded higher and closed at 33.14 level on Friday. This week, we predict the exchange rate market will fall as Dollar may wane. Target range is expected at 32.50 – 33.30 region.

Gold spot prices bounced off USD4000 /oz bottom and closed at USD4175 /oz level. This week, we outlook the market will gain more traction and trade USD4050 – USD4300 /oz region. Fundamentally, we foresee the Dollar will retreat slightly and push the yellow metal into recovery.

Crude WTI spot prices weakened last week and closed at USD69.26 /barrel level. This week, we target the market will regain momentum and trade in moderate recovery from USD69.00 – USD72.00 /barrel. Uncertainty still overshadows the market while traders stay alert on the progressive situation in Strait of Hormuz.

Silver spot prices closed higher at USD62.42 /oz on Friday after sealed a firm support at USD58.00 /oz level. This week, we foresee the market will continue to move higher and trade within USD60.00 – USD66.00 /oz region. Precious metals are set to make recovery this early July.

Crude Palm Oil (FCPO) Futures on Bursa Derivatives sank in demand last week as Crude prices softened. We resume the FCPO trend will follow the Crude prices in July due to looming economy in Middle East. Sep26 Futures settled at RM4483 /MT on Friday. This week, we forecast the market will trade in upward reversal and move within RM4450 – RM4550 /MT region in mixed sentiment.

DAR Wong is a professional in the global financial & investment industry with more than 30 years of experiences in Singapore. He can be reached at dar@alaa.sg